

AURORA CREDIT ANALYTICS AGENT

Part of aurora agent suite

Aurora reviews every piece of credit data on the deal, from PayNet and bureau reports to spreads and background checks, and shows your analyst where the risk is, which feels a little like magic and spares everyone from pretending they enjoy writing credit memos.

features that will make your team happy

house rules apply

Give the agent your credit policy once and it'll follow it faithfully.

follow the red flags

Aurora weighs PayNet, bureau, spreading, and background data together and calls out your biggest areas of risk.

let them fight

When the application says the business opened in 2004 and the bureau swears it was 2017, the memo shows both and lets your analyst referee.

typo proof

Numbers go straight from the deal record into the memo, so nobody ever types $2.4 million when they meant $240,000.

receipts please

Every figure links straight to the page it was pulled from, which is great news for the committee member who checks everything twice.

what happens in credit, stays in credit

Your funding partners get their own memo with all the same numbers and none of your recommendations or internal hand-wringing.

Go ahead, take all the credit.
